

Yanick Hicks, Pharm.D.

Yanick Hicks is a certified Maxwell Leadership keynote speaker and executive coach with a passion for empowering others in the areas of leadership, communication, and teamwork. A Doctor of Pharmacy graduate from Marshall University School of Pharmacy, Yanick began his career as a pharmacist before discovering his calling as a speaker and coach.

With over seven years of experience, Yanick averages 80 speaking engagements annually, delivering impactful keynotes to a wide range of audiences. He has spoken at prestigious conferences and organizations, Virginia Association of Community Services Boards, Georgia Health Care Association, National Council of Prescription Drug Program, Iowa Healthcare Collaborative, Indiana Primary Health Care Association, Arizona Pharmacist Association, Wisconsin Home Care Association, National Federally Employed Women, Florida Society of Human Resources Managers, Virginia Fire Chiefs Association Conference, Hospice & Palliative Care Association of Iowa, Alabama Mega Schools Conference, California Charter School Association Conference, Arizona Association of Healthcare Quality and many more.

Yanick's dynamic presentations inspire individuals and organizations to achieve their goals, fostering growth and collaboration. When he's not speaking or coaching, Yanick enjoys coaching youth sports, playing soccer, hiking, watching movies, and spending quality time with his family and friends.